

Consistent, compliant email signatures for law firms & legal practices

Email signature management made easy for legal IT

Legal emails are subject to strict regulations. Every message needs to look professional, include the right legal disclaimer, and reflect accurate sender details. But when signatures are managed manually or left to individual users, that's rarely the case.

Exclaimer gives legal IT teams full control over every signature, so firms can reduce risk, save time, and maintain a professional, compliant brand in every message.

The signature challenges for legal IT teams

Managing signatures across practice groups, offices, and devices is more complex than it should be.

Common challenges include:

- Inconsistent branding across attorneys and practice groups
- Missing or incorrect legal disclaimers on client-facing emails
- Mobile emails without proper formatting or firm logos
- Manual signature edits by staff with no audit trail
- Growing ticket backlog for email signature changes and updates
- Pressure to meet confidentiality, regulatory, and jurisdictional compliance requirements

When email signatures aren't managed centrally, legal teams waste time fixing errors and risk compliance issues.

Exclaimer for the legal sector

Consistent. Compliant. Controlled.

Key features & benefits:

- Centralized control across the firm –
Update and manage all employee signatures from one cloud platform. No manual installs, no scripts, no device reconfiguration.
- Compliance that scales with your firm –
Apply the correct disclaimer for every message based on office, jurisdiction, or client type. Meet GDPR, HIPAA, ABA, and SRA rules without manual effort.
- Consistent branding and professional formatting –
Ensure consistent formatting, correct titles, and professional layout, whether sent from Outlook desktop, browser, or mobile.
- Automated updates with no IT backlog –
Connect to Microsoft Entra ID (Azure AD) or Google Directory to update contact information instantly across the firm.
- Protect against phishing and impersonation –
Apply consistent, locked-down signatures across every message so suspicious emails stand out.
- Delegate without losing control –
Give Marketing or Compliance editing access while IT retains system-wide control through role-based permissions.

How it works: Four steps to full control

1. Launch your account

Get set up with help from our expert onboarding team.

2. Create your templates

Use our drag and drop editor or prebuilt layouts tailored by department, office, or user type.

3. Set rules and apply logic

Define signature rules by location, job title, or practice area. Push updates instantly.

4. Delegate with confidence

Assign permissions to approved teams.
Let others manage content, not compliance

Trusted by legal organizations worldwide

Exclaimer delivers more than 20 billion email signatures every year and supports over 70,000 organizations, including top global law firms, legal teams, and professional services networks.

"It's fantastic that I can now update signatures centrally and they will be uniform across different platforms that users send emails from. We no longer have to help people set their signatures and no longer have to worry about users not using the brand standard signature. Saves a lot of time from the user perspective and the IT administration perspective."

— Drew Baxter, Hay & Kilner Law Firm
